

Fraud Notice: Beware of Job Scams

Sage Therapeutics is aware of a scam targeting job seekers via fake Sage job postings. These kinds of scams are unfortunately occurring across many companies and industries. Please be aware of the possibility that scammers may post fake job openings or send fraudulent communications pretending to be from Sage or Sage employees or recruiters regarding potential job opportunities, scheduling interviews or even making fake job offers from Sage in an attempt to encourage the job seeker to disclose financial or personal information. Be advised that we do not make any payments to or ask candidates for any fees as part of the application process, and only request personal information through official company systems. In most cases you can expect to hear directly from a member of our recruiting team with a legitimate @sagerx.com email address, but you may receive communications from one of our recruiting partners as well. Consequently, you should always conduct research to ensure a posting and/or offer is legitimate, and you should never provide personal or financial information unless you are certain that the request is legitimate. If you are concerned that an offer of employment with Sage might be fraudulent, please verify by searching for the posting on the Sage Careers webpage or contact us at cyber@sagerx.com. Please visit the FTC's website to learn more about how to recognize and report job scams.
